Art Unit: 1618

Claims 1-18 are pending in the instant application.

Claims 1-6 are presented for examination.

The specie of AIT-082 has been elected for examination.

The claims will be examined to the extent that they read on the elected subject matter.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 1618

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wallace et al. (U.S. Patent 5,166,317) and WO 00/32197.

Wallace et al. Teach the use of neurothrophic factors for the treatment of a number of eye disorders. Dry eye is considered to be one of such disorders. See the abstract and column 1, lines 55-59. The above reference differs from the claimed invention in the use of the claimed specific neurotrophic factor AIT-082. WO Patent teaches that AIT-082 is a well-known neurotrophic factor. See page 5, lines 16-18. It would have been obvious for a person skilled in the art to use AIT-082 for the treatment of dry eye, considering that Wallace et al. teach the use of neurothrophic factors for the treatment of dry eye.

One skilled in the art would have been motivated to combine the teachings of the above references, since one relates to the use of neurotrophic factors in general for the treatment of dry eye, and the other relates to the use of AIT-082 as a neurothrophic factor. The substitution of one neurotrophic factor for another would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art in the absence of evidence to the contrary. To use a neurothrophic factor for the treatment of dry eye caused by any purpose is considered to be within the skill of the artisan in the absence of evidence to the contrary. Applicant has presented no evidence to establish the unexpected or unobvious nature of the claimed invention, and as such, claims 1-6 are properly rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103.
